

Moraíto Chico

by Alex Hancock

Moraíto Chico was born in the town of Jerez in southern Spain in 1956. Chico became one of the greatest flamenco guitarists of his time. Flamenco music was in his blood. Both his father, Juan, and his uncle, Manuel, were well-known flamenco guitarists. He began performing when he was only 11 years old. His first performance was at a flamenco festival in Jerez. It is held every year in the dusty, open-air bullring.
